

Pacific Beach & La Jolla Welcome To District 2

District 2 Update

Volume 1, Issue 7
November 2001

District 2 welcomes some new residents, as all of Pacific Beach has been consolidated and portions of La Jolla have been included under Councilmember Byron Wear. Nearly 150,000 new residents have joined District 2 including not only North Pacific Beach, but also areas of Park West, Uptown, Cortez Hill, and the Ballpark District.

Pacific Beach

In addition to the Airport, Convention Center, St. Vincent de Paul Center, City Concourse, Gaslamp Quarter, Seaport Village, South and North Embarcadero, parts of Mission Bay and other regional assets, District 2 includes wonderful residential areas. From the latest downtown luxury high-rises to the traditional neighborhoods of Point Loma; to the historic estates in Mission Hills to the shelter residents throughout the district, the nine staff members work hard to be involved in your neighborhoods and meet your needs.

Our staff is divided into geographical areas, with Jeff Van Deerlin have responsibility for Pacific Beach, Mission Beach and Ocean Beach. Jeff also works on budget issues and handles the Community Development Block Grant allocations that help our social service agencies and community festivals survive. Jeff has been with Councilmember Wear since the beginning of his public service on the City Council in 1995. Jeff grew up in Washington, D. C. as his father, Congressman Lionel Van Deerlin, served the U.S. House of Representatives for 18 years.

Byron Wear has a special love for Pacific Beach. As a former lifeguard, Byron's leadership in water quality issues and beach safety are well-known throughout the city. He has worked hard to address the concerns of beach neighborhoods in terms of noise, traffic, alcohol and economic growth. A number of projects are now in the pipeline toward full funding and completion that have been initiated by Councilmember Wear. These include:

Grand Avenue Lifeguard Tower and Comfort Station

This amenity is a much-needed upgrade to a crumbling and outdated facility. Total cost is $1.9 million and the community has asked for additional elements totaling $415,000. The project goes before the California Coastal Commission next, with construction estimated to begin after the summer of 2002.

Pacific Beach Recreation Center Tot Lot

This project is in its second round of contracting proposals. The Park & Recreation Department is heading up the project and fielding the proposals. All funding has been identified.

Additional projects include lighting for Cass Street, Mission Blvd. and Garnet St. conversion to high pressure sodium lights, new palms on Turquoise and Thomas Streets. Funding for the Pacific Beach Elementary Turfing project are still being identified.

District Two also welcomes La Jolla

New constituents in the southern portion of Mt. Soledad and the Bird Rock area can contact Millie Howard, our scheduler, for appointments or talk to Jeff Van Deerlin, who handles Pacific Beach, for policy concerns. Constituent services such as sidewalks, trees, and city matters, are handled by Don Giaquinto. All can be reached at the council offices at 619-236-6622.

Councilmember Wear is very familiar with community needs in La Jolla and has voted in favor of many public improvements and quality of life projects, including the lifeguard station improvements and additional coastal infrastructure improvements.

Thank you, Hervey Family, for a $5 million gift to the Point Loma Library

Thanks to a $5 million private donation from the Hervey Family, the James Edgar and Jean Jessop Hervey Library in Point Loma will be one of the largest and most complete branches in our City of San Diego Library System. The project passed the City Council on October 29, 2001 in terms of property acquisition and inviting bids for construction. The city has contributed $5.5 million.

Mayor Dick Murphy includes enhancing the library system as one of his ten goals for his first term. Councilmember Byron Wear has worked for the improvement of the Point Loma Library since the beginning of his term in 1995.
